Technical description

The art of joining and / or holding different objects by a rope, It is called loop or knot, from this idea comes "Nuus". Even before there were ropes, unions were held by roots. That's why we have dedicated an object, in this case a lamp, to something as simple but not least, that is the art of knots. With a natural look, with its wooden rods, contrasted by the "fluor" textile cable, which helps to emphasize our idea. Nuus represents a fusion between the old concept of unions by roots, and the diversity of colors and current light.

Mamet Lamp By Pablo Carballal

Dimensions

W 17,5 x D 65 x H 45 cm

Technical description

1,2 kg

Technical description

The name Mamet is the spanish acronym of the two materials of which the lamps elements are made: madera (wood) and metal. Each arm is made of two oak pieces cut by CNC (computer numeric control) in a way that, once assembled, the section allows a void in the center for the wire, that remains hidden. The finish is done in varnish applied by hand in a very traditional way. The metal pieces for the head, base and articulations of the lamps are made of iron lackered with epoxi resine in color RAL 9010.
