Bio

Martin Breuer Bono holds a Master's Degree from the Technische Universität Wien and a MDes Degree from the Royal College of Art, London. Apart from formal aesthetic considerations his work is focused on conceptual contents and -often linked with that- technological aspects. With reference to that he introduced the term „design development“. In the past years Martin worked on several self-initiated projects for pieces of furniture, tableware and household items, ruthlessly following his characteristic conceptual approach. His work recurrently hovers over the poles meaning and relevance, simplicity and manifestation, limitation and depth. Martin holds several patents, his projects won prestigious international design and innovation prizes, his work was on display in numerous countries. Martin is married and the father of three boys, he lives and works in Graz, Austria.

Technical description

The proposal "Schlagseite" substantially rethinks the typology of a bookcase. The result is a physically and optically reduced object, using the minimum amount of material. Time to need less.

How much do you need? And how much does it need to hold a book? An airy grid with a well-defined distance to the wall behind it, inclined at an angle of 3°! In this field of compartments you can place your beloved books. And they don't fall, because they are leaning. „Schlagseite“ -via an elegant gesture- invites to interact, to (re-)group your books: With the tip of a finger you can choose a book and tilt it towards you! A minimal and characteristic piece of furniture. Empty, it produces a sculptural cast shadow on the wall, fully loaded it draws back and leaves the scenery to the books.
